10:00 – 11:00 AM: Welcoming Remarks/ Setting the Context I :Problem Definition

Chair, Angel Gurría, Secretary General of the OECD

Welcome

John English, Executive Director, Centre for International Governance Innovation

Maureen O'Neil, President, International Development Research Centre

Setting the context

Dr. Gordon Smith, Executive Director, Centre for Global Studies

Our purpose is to reach a common understanding of the task ahead. We want everyone on the same page re the problem, the state of governance, and what we are trying to accomplish.

11:00-11:30 AM: COFFEE Break

11:30-1:00 PM: Setting the Context II: State of Governance

Chair: Rolf Alter

Paul Heinbecker: "The UNFCCC process"

Lord Michael Jay: "The extended G8 process – G8 +5 and GLOBE"

Shyam Saran: "An Indian Perspective"

The session will review current developments in the climate change/energy security fields, e.g. GHG emissions, supply of secure and sustainable energy, who will pay to finance the public good, & advancing development and adoption of new technology. What is the state of play of international negotiations and governance?

1:00-2:30 PM: Working Lunch – International Action on Nuclear Energy (room George Marshall)

Chair: Francois Heisbourg

Brief address by Thierry Dujardin, Deputy Director, Nuclear Energy Agency, OECD

Comments by Mohamed Shaker, Marcos Azambuja and Pierre Carlier

2:30-3:30 PM: "The Grand Bargain – Reality Check"

Chair: Ngaire Woods

Barry Carin: "The Non Chair Non Text"

Lorents Lorentsen, Chief of Environment Directorate, OECD

Jorgen Elmeskov, Deputy Director, Economics Department, OECD

This session will explore necessary refinements to result in a package deal all countries find acceptable, especially with regard to the range of "L14 invitation" requests to various international organizations, and promising ideas for new international machinery. For a "package deal" comprised of invitations to international organizations, are there missing elements? Are there surplus or irrelevant initiatives?

3:30 – 4:00 PM COFFEE Break

4:00-6:00 PM: “Governance and the Grand Bargain- Who gets what, when and how?”

Chair: Andres Rozental

Josef Joffe: “The Politics”

Re Targets and costs: What governance innovations are needed to answer the following questions?

- How do we allocate emission commitments? How can we cut the “Gordian knot” of distributing burdens?
- What are the requirements for emerging and developing economies? For developed economies?
- How can the circle of assuring security of guaranteed energy supplies be squared?
- Who will pay, how, when?

6:15 -7:30 PM: Reception at Canadian Mission to the OECD

=====
Tuesday, March 13

10:00 – 11:15 AM: Process: How do we get there from here? I

Chair: Gordon Smith

- How do we advance these ideas?
- How can we better prepare for engagement of political leaders?
- Organize a fall conference of media opinion leaders from the L14 countries to role play in a simulated L14 Summit?
- Recruit champions to promote the ideas?
- Draft a film script for Al Gore?
- Should the G5 insist on an L14?

11:15-11:45 AM: Coffee Break

11:45-1:00 AM: Process: How do we get there from here? II

Chair: Gordon Smith

To ensure adequate time for debate and argument, all Speakers will limit their remarks to 5 minutes. Interventions will be limited to 2 minutes, and 30 seconds for “two handers”.
